
Mack-Arthur Turner II is originally from Tupelo, MS, but now calls the Mississippi Delta home. He currently lives in Greenville where he practices law in several youth courts in the Delta area.

Mack-Arthur began his academic journey at Itawamba Community College. He later attended the University of Mississippi where he was part of the Sally McDonnell Barksdale Honors College. He then graduated from the University of Mississippi school of law. After law school, he began his legal career with the Shelby County Public Defender's Office (Memphis, TN); working in several criminal divisions, including the juvenile justice division.

Currently, Mack-Arthur mentors young individuals who have been involved in the youth court system.
